The Krum Public Library and Director Donna Pierce welcomed 40 people to its existing and future premises as they held the official Groundbreaking Ceremony at 10:00 AM on Friday, March 18, 2016. On site for the groundbreaking were Denton County Commissioner Andy Eads, Krum Mayor Ron Harris, and City Council Members Justin Diviney, Austin Peterson, and Rhonda Harrison. In addition, Fire Chief Ken Swindle and Police Chief Terry Hargis joined us to show their support. The Friends of the Library were represented by President Sande Clere and Lori Mande. Library Board Members present included Board Chair Kelly Ring, Bonnie Barthold, Donna O'Dania, Adrienne Pohrte, and Joy Wear. Also among our guests were several of KPL's frequent patrons, members of the press, our construction team, several representatives from City Hall, and KPL staff.

Commissioner Eads, Mayor Harris, and Library Director Pierce each gave brief remarks concerning the significance of this historic event and the importance of our library to our community. Special thanks are given to Tudy's Tacos for donating breakfast tacos for the reception following the groundbreaking.
